

Prime Minister's International Business Awards 2022

Fiji's most prestigious Business Awards

RECOVERY | RESILIENCE | PROGRESS

We are celebrating a milestone achievement as we mark the 28th award of three decades of the Prime Minister's International Business Awards, which began in 1992 to recognize businesses that have achieved extraordinary results and elevated Fiji's competitiveness in the global economy. It is also a celebration of the resilience of our businesses and entrepreneurs who have kept the nation afloat during the global pandemic. This resonates with this year's theme: - Recovery, Resilience and Progress.

RECOGNIZING YOUR BUSINESS

The previous Prime Minister's International Business Awards focused entirely on exporters; however, we have changed the concept to recognize everyone, more specifically our local businesses. There are numerous award categories that you can apply for and share how your business has helped the Fijian economy.

From the 12 categories, the Supreme Award will automatically nominate your business when you apply for any of the general or special categories. All applications and processes, including the judging, will be done online.

There are awards for sustainability, corporate social responsibility, innovation, and e-excellence, as well as awards for small, medium, or large businesses.

The attention that this award gets would be a good match for your business.

The Prime Minister's International Business Awards also recognize how different businesses in different fields have created jobs.

It is also geared more towards giving businesses the recognition and branding needed to help them market their products and services globally.

Once you send your applications, our independent judges will assess your application, all of which will be done online based on the criteria that you have applied to.

This year we have also introduced Recognition Awards, so even if a business does not win any categories or awards, they will be recognized for their contribution.

This award was created to see what Fijian businesses were doing to compete internationally.

We look forward to your application.
